Foreword

Göttingen is proud of its diversity.

People from more than 160 different countries live in our city that creates and highlights the great potential of academic study and knowledge ("die Stadt, die Wissen schafft"). Many individuals with migrant backgrounds contribute to our life together, as well as to this city’s cosmopolitan and international flair, in ways that are often very enriching.

Our city is just as diverse when it comes to the various educational and consultancy amenities and other essential facilities. We certainly ought not to take this for granted. Thankfully, there are many active and dedicated women and men in our city; they help to create and shape the numerous services that allow us to live together in an intercultural context. Support can therefore be offered where it is needed. This is vital not just for its own sake but sometimes even to preserve life, as many refugees from around the world seek a safe haven with us.

This guide contains details of services that may be helpful for migrants and their families, depending on their particular circumstances. This first ever collection of practical information is also intended to serve as a useful reference for the many people who freely give their time to assist migrants, including the many migrants who have lived here for years and are now also involved in this work. A sincere thank you goes to all of them.

The Stadt Göttingen warmly welcomes all new citizens. We are delighted to have many people from other cultural backgrounds already living with us. Our aim – thanks to this publication – is to help them all rise to new challenges and carry out new tasks – knowing that it is not always easy to begin with. We wish you all a warm "Welcome” because we embrace “Diversity in Göttingen”.

I hope you enjoy browsing the useful information in this guide.

STADT GÖTTINGEN

(Rolf-Georg Köhler)

Lord Mayor
Introduction

“Welcome – Diversity in Göttingen” is an orientation guide for people from migrant backgrounds who are now living in Göttingen, which has been designed to help people get their bearings and integrate into the life of the city. Making a fresh start and relocating always involves an interesting journey with many challenges, especially at the beginning, whether someone arrives as a refugee, as part of a family reunification initiative, to take up a new job, to study or for some other reason.

Many pressing questions arise, particularly for people with different cultural backgrounds, e.g.: Where can I register? Which language courses are available? What childcare services are on offer? Which is the right school for my child? Where can I find support? The manifold potential answers depend on the individual’s needs and living situation.

A wide variety of institutions, options and contact persons is available to help immigrants in Göttingen. Some of the help available is extremely specialized so it can be difficult to get the big picture or present a comprehensive overview, as the various agencies and people who work with different immigrant groups confirm. Integration and participation services are, however, generally regarded as excellent and comprehensive, but the need for advice and information is equally great.

To make it easier to navigate this information, it is presented under three headings. All the information will also be useful for advisory centres, trainers, the numerous volunteers who support and accompany migrants, and also the institutions and service centres whose day-to-day work involves tackling the extra questions arising from the new immigration of refugees. It can often be useful and helpful to find out what is happening beyond one’s own direct sphere of work.

The detailed information covers the wide-ranging services in Göttingen, which are arranged in three interrelated guides: First Steps towards Orientation – Language and Education – Jobs and Careers. These areas of focus were defined after asking for advice from and holding discussions with the advisory group for the implementation of the city’s integration plan.

Part I highlights the first steps to settling into life in Göttingen. These include a host of different contact centres in the municipal administration, points of contact for migrants in the city and institutions close to residential districts. Contact names and addresses for leisure, sports and cultural amenities are also included. The many listings of the city’s migrant self-help organizations could also prove helpful for new arrivals.

Part II provides information about language learning in Göttingen, as well as educational opportunities and projects for children and parents. It also introduces child daycare centres and schools and specific amenities. Learning options outside school and financial assistance complete the guide.

Part III focuses on advisory services in the fields of careers choice, vocational training and further training as well as second chances for gaining a school-leaving certificate at a later time. It sets out the general prospects for assistance as well as ways to get foreign school, university and vocational qualifications recognized, and advice on higher education, finding a job and starting a business.
All the information brought together here refers to actual services and contact persons in Göttingen who are relevant for migrants. Where extra information or materials, including translations, are available, this is noted. All details were correct in February 2015.

Details of the services and contact names were compiled on the basis of first-hand enquiries and personal conversations, online research, or written consultation and authorization for publication.

Short explanations are included for specific areas of responsibility. The boxes displaying basic information and addresses make it easy to identify the relevant agencies and contact partners, so that migrants and their families can find the most suitable people and assistance.

Information compiled in the individual sub-chapters also reveals how the various services are interconnected with each other.

The objective is to provide individuals with migrant backgrounds and their families equal opportunities to participate in society and work, so that they can become firmly integrated in Göttingen over time.

I. First Steps towards Orientation in Göttingen

1. The city administration’s services

1.1 Registration

All citizens who intend to settle permanently in Göttingen, i.e. for longer than three months, are obliged to register within their first week at the Service Department for Residents’ Affairs (Fachdienst Einwohnerangelegenheiten). The requirement to register applies without exception for all people arriving from a different German city or from abroad.

Citizens are required to present proof of their identity (an identity card, passport, child identity card or certificate indicating civil status\(^1\)) and confirmation of their accommodation e.g. a rental agreement and to register at the Residents’ Registration Department (Einwohnermeldeabteilung) in Göttingen’s town hall (Neues Rathaus).

Students who register their main place of residence in Göttingen can benefit from numerous privileges and discount options (e.g. for culture, leisure and sports) by applying to “Aktion Heimspiel”\(^2\).

More information is available at the Service Department for Residents’ Affairs (Fachdienst Einwohnerangelegenheiten) in the town hall (Neues Rathaus), as well as at the University Cafeteria, main reception (Mensafoyer) – this is always open four weeks before and four weeks after the start of the new semester, from Mondays to Fridays 11.00–14.00 – and online at www.aktion-heimspiel.de.

\(^2\) “Aktion Heimspiel” is an initiative set up by the Stadt Göttingen, the University of Göttingen, the University of Applied Sciences and Arts (Hochschule für angewandte Wissenschaft und Kunst, HAWK) and the Private University of Applied Sciences (Private Hochschule Göttingen, PFH).
1.2 Residence

The regulations set out in the Residents Act (Aufenthaltsrecht) are a priority for those relocating from abroad who are not nationals of a Member State of the European Union (EU). The Stadt Göttingen’s Alien Office (Ausländerbehörde) is an important first point of contact.

The Alien Office (Ausländerbehörde) is responsible for issuing and extending various types of residence permits, issuing residence permits for presentation to other authorities (e.g. the Employment Agency (Agentur für Arbeit), checking entry visa applications for higher education courses, German courses, the family reunification programme, etc., exceptional leave to remain (Duldung) and the right to participate in an integration course, as well as naturalization and questions relating to citizenship.

The basic conditions governing the right of residence depend on whether a person is immigrating as an ethnic German repatriate (Spätaussiedler/in), a citizen of an EU Member State, the European Economic Area (EEA) or Switzerland, or arriving from a third country outside the EU.

Immigrants who are ethnic German repatriates (Spätaussiedler/innen) are eligible to receive German citizenship. Citizens of the EU, EEA and Switzerland have a right to the freedom of movement. They do not require a residence permit to stay in Germany. If their family members are citizens of a third country, they will receive a Residence Card (Aufenthaltskarte).

Individuals from third countries who would like to stay permanently in Germany require permission to do so – a residence permit (Aufenthaltstitel).

Different permits apply for longer-term residence in Germany:

- residence permit for a limited time period
- settlement permit with no time limit
- permanent EU residence permit
- the EU Blue Card (Blaue Karte EU) initially awarded for a four-year period for qualified persons from non-EU countries

Under the cooperative agreement with the Services for Migrants (Migrationsdienste) (see Part 1, Chap. 3) migrants are offered appointments every Thursday from 9.00–12.00 in the town hall’s wedding ceremony room (Neues Rathaus, Trauzimmer).
Naturalization (Einbürgerung)

Foreign nationals and stateless persons, as well as those who have been living in Germany for a long time or were born here and have a strong connection to Germany can become citizens of the Federal Republic of Germany through naturalization. As German nationals they are entitled to full citizenship’s rights and responsibilities.

The acquisition of German nationality makes it possible to participate in the political process through active and passive voting rights in municipal (Kommunal-), state parliament (Landtags-), federal parliament (Bundestags-) and European Union elections (Europawahlen), as well as the opportunity to stand as a parliamentary candidate. In addition, naturalization entails free access to all occupations and trades, as well as membership of the European Union, which entitles people to visa-free travel to many countries.

New citizens who have passed the naturalization test receive their naturalization certificate at an official ceremony in Göttingen’s town hall (Neues Rathaus).

The Stadt Göttingen Alien Office (Ausländerbehörde) provides more information about naturalization.

This guide is available from the town hall, Neues Rathaus, Hiroshimaplatz 1-4, the Office for Integration (Büro für Integration) and the Alien Office (Ausländerbehörde) and can be downloaded from www.goettingen.de/integration.
1.3 Earning a living

Göttingen residents who cannot secure a living through their own efforts can seek assistance from the Stadt Göttingen’s Department of Social Welfare (Fachbereich Soziales).

Basic support for job seekers (German Social Code II) (Grundsicherung für Arbeitsuchende, SGB II)

Those who are able to work and are looking for a job can submit an application for basic support for job seekers (Grundsicherung für Arbeitsuchende) under the German Social Code II (SGB II) to guarantee a minimum level of subsistence.

Further information about this is available from the Initial Contact Point (Erstkontaktstelle) of the Department of Social Welfare (Fachbereich Soziales), which offers support with:

- submitting the application
- a preliminary interview to advise about applying for benefits under the German Social Code II (SGB II)
- compiling a checklist of any missing documents, if necessary
- arranging an appointment for the follow-up consultation with the relevant benefits administrators and case managers

An interpreter can be organized, if required.

Benefits under the Asylum Seekers’ Benefits Act (Asylbewerberleistungsgesetz, AsylbLG)

Provision is made for asylum seekers and other foreign nationals, who may only stay in Germany on a temporary basis, as well as those with exceptional leave to remain under the Asylum Seekers’ Benefits Act (Asylbewerberleistungsgesetz, AsylbLG).

Benefits under the AsylbLG include:

- basic benefits for food, accommodation and heating
- benefits in case of illness, pregnancy and birth
- healthcare and personal hygiene
- clothing, household consumer goods and consumables
- an allowance for personal daily needs

Additional payments can be granted, depending on the person’s circumstances.

In the past, basic benefits were provided as non-cash benefits. The Interior Ministry of Lower Saxony’s decision in March 2013 changed this to the payment of cash benefits. This is consistent with Göttingen city council and administration’s long-standing political aims.

The Stadt Göttingen’s Service Department for Accommodation, Housing allowance, Asylum Seekers’ Benefits Act (Fachdienst Wohnraumfragen, Wohngeld, Asylbewerberleistungsgesetz) is responsible for providing advice about benefits under the AsylbLG, as well as for accepting applications and granting benefits for day-to-day living and accommodation.

According to the “Plan for Accommodation Provision and Integration of Refugees in the Stadt Göttingen” (“Konzept zur Wohnraumversorgung und Integration von Flüchtlingen in der Stadt Göttingen”) of February 2014, the Stadt Göttingen prefers to house refugees in decentralized accommodation. The continual arrival of refugees and a challenging housing market necessitated the establishment of temporary shared accommodation.

Housing allowance (Wohngeld)

If the legal conditions are met, Göttingen residents are entitled to submit an application for housing allowance (Wohngeld) to provide accommodation that is secure and appropriate for families. This allowance is classified as rent allowance (Mietzuschuss) for tenants living in rental accommodation and as home maintenance allowance (Lastenzuschuss) for owner-occupiers living in their own accommodation.

All persons with a low income are entitled to receive this housing allowance if they fulfil the conditions set out in the Housing Allowance Act (Wohngeldgesetz, WoGG) and the Social Code (Sozialgesetzbuch, SGB). In this case, the subsidy requirements are based on a calculation of overall income for all household members. The level of housing allowance is determined according to:

- the rent due in this case
- the size of the household
- the overall allowable monthly income

Recipients of transfer payments such as basic support for job seekers under the Social Code II (Grundsicherung für Arbeitsuchende, SGB II) or basic support in old age or for reduced earning capacity under the Social Code XII (Grundsicherung im Alter und bei Erwerbsminderung, SGB XII) are exempt from any entitlement to housing allowance. The transfer payments in such cases cover the subsidy for housing costs.

Individuals are entitled to a housing allowance regardless of their nationality. Foreign nationals (according to Section 2, Paragraph 1 of the Residence Act (Aufenthaltsgesetz), who are ordinarily resident in the Federal Republic of Germany can receive housing allowance (Wohngeld) if they are nationals of an EU state or can provide a valid residence permit that displays the residence status and the duration of their residence in Germany.
Applications for housing allowance (Wohngeld) can be submitted to the Stadt Göttingen's Service Department for Accommodation, Housing allowance, Asylum Seekers’ Benefits Act (Fachdienst Wohnraumfragen, Wohngeld, Asylbewerberleistungsgesetz).

Services in Göttingen: Food Bank (Göttinger Tafel e.V.)

Göttingen’s Food Bank (Göttinger Tafel e.V.), a registered charity, hands out free food given by donations to those people receiving state benefits such as basic support for job seekers, housing allowance or payments according to the Asylum Seekers’ Benefits Act (Asylbewerberleistungsgesetz), or those with low incomes. This additional assistance is meant to ensure that people in financial difficulties do not go without food.

The customer card required to use this service can be obtained for a small fee by giving proof of eligibility (e.g. the Social Card (SozialCard) issued by the Stadt Göttingen or proof of receipt of basic support) as well as proof of identity for all those living in the household (e.g. identity card, child identity card or birth certificate).

1.4 Stadt Göttingen’s assistance for refugees

Refugees receive assistance from Göttingen’s social workers at the Department of Social Welfare (Fachbereich Soziales). They also have the options of assistance from interpreters and help with the initial settling in process and establishing contacts in the city.

Social workers from Göttingen meet refugees at the railway station or the town hall (Neues Rathaus) and accompany them to contact centres in the town hall such as the Service Department for Residents’ Affairs (Fachdienst Einwohnerangelegenheiten), Alien Office (Ausländerbehörde) and other service centres. Help is offered with finding accommodation and submitting an application for support with day-to-day living and healthcare insurance or getting benefits approved.

Social workers can also help with filling in applications and organizing suitable furnishings for apartments (e.g. furniture, crockery, bed linen, clothing, items for personal daily needs). They give initial information about day-to-day amenities (e.g. shopping, local public transport).

Immediately after their arrival in Göttingen and following discussions with parents, children are registered at a daycare centre or an appropriate school, depending on their age. The social workers contact the nearest daycare centres and schools and liaise with the family and the institution. If required, they can also accompany parents when they register their children.

After they start school, children of refugees are given the appropriate materials to attend lessons. Social workers support the parents with their application for basic equipment and schoolbooks and ensure that they obtain them. They work closely with the schools and their associated initiatives. They act as liaison partners for the schools and inform parents about the German education system and the different types of schools.

The social workers for refugees offer advice about all the available benefits, provide support when settling in and making applications and organize doctors’ appointments. They provide support for all circumstances.
The social worker team helping refugees is a network with many different partners. It can liaise with refugees and their families and the network’s other members to provide assistance with specific issues and problems.

To ensure that refugees are properly supported during their initial orientation phase after arrival in Göttingen, many people have registered as volunteers with the Stadt Göttingen. The Centre for Migrants in Göttingen City and District (Migrationszentrum für die Stadt und den Landkreis Göttingen) (see Part 1, Chap. 3.4) has assumed responsibility for coordinating volunteers and supports them as a liaison partner in case of questions and communication difficulties.

1.5 Early Intervention (Frühe Hilfen)

When the Federal Child Protection Act (Bundeskinderschutzgesetz, BKiSchG) came into force in early 2012, Youth Welfare Offices (Jugendämter) were obliged to set up Early Intervention (Frühe Hilfen) networks.

Since then the Stadt Göttingen has offered a range of Early Intervention (Frühe Hilfen) services such as low-threshold support (i.e. home and social care services) during pregnancy and in early childhood.

Early Intervention & Child Protection Network Göttingen City and District (Netzwerk Frühe Hilfen & Kinderschutz Stadt und Landkreis Göttingen)

The City and District Youth Welfare Offices (Jugendämter) have accepted co-responsibility for the Göttingen network.

Active participants in Göttingen’s Early Support & Child Protection Network (Netzwerk Frühe Hilfen & Kinderschutz) are experts in various fields who are experienced in dealing with children and parents. They are qualified experts on pregnancy, birth, parenthood, healthy development and child protection. They share best practice across their respective skills sets and harmonize their work and services.

Family Midwives (Familienhebammen)

One example of an Early Intervention (Frühe Hilfen) service is referral to the Family Midwives (Familienhebammen).

Family midwives are state-qualified midwives with officially recognized further training. They offer free support during pregnancy, post-natal assistance and, on request, until the child’s first birthday. They facilitate contacts with the authorities, act as mediators and accompany people to consultations and doctors’ appointments and offer further assistance.

More information is available about the family midwife service at www.goettingen.de and in the booklet “Family Midwives” (“Familienhebammen”) which can be downloaded at www.landkreis-goettingen.de > Family Midwives Göttingen City and District” (> Familienhebammen Stadt und Landkreis Göttingen).

External service: Lower Saxony Specialist and Family Information System Early Intervention (Fach- und Familieninformationssystem Frühe Hilfen Niedersachsen, FIS)

The Lower Saxony Specialist and Family Information System Early Intervention (Fach- und Familieninformationssystem Niedersachsen, FIS) was launched in 2013, as a website that publishes and sources early intervention for children, parents, pregnant women and qualified experts. The aim is to provide a daily updated survey of municipal and regional services available in the early intervention field.

The FIS offers families and pregnant women full information about low-threshold early intervention services near their homes. Information is filtered to suit the individual’s specific circumstances. Experts and specialists can access the FIS in the course of their work. The available services include advice and further assistance for families, cooperation or further training.

Service providers advertise their services on the FIS website free of charge; the information is updated on a daily basis.

1.6 Support for minors and unaccompanied refugees
(unbegleitete minderjährige Flüchtlinge)

There has been a steady increase for several years in the number of young refugees entering Germany without their parents or any adult family members. They are known as ‘minors and unaccompanied refugees’ (unbegleitete minderjährige Flüchtlinge, UMF). Since 2011, thanks to the assistance of the Youth Social Services Department (Sozialdienst des Fachbereiches Jugend) they have been placed in the care of foster families in Göttingen or in supported living facilities run by the registered charity Youth Support Southern Lower Saxony (Jugendhilfe Süd-Niedersachsen e.V., JSN).

Legal representation for minors and unaccompanied refugees

Under Section 1773, Paragraph 1 of the German Civil Code (Bürgerliches Gesetzbuch, BGB) minors not living in their parent’s care are entitled to a legal guardian. The same applies in cases where parents are not eligible to represent a minor. For example, this is relevant for minors and unaccompanied refugees, if the parents are deceased, or if they live abroad and have no contact with the minor.

The legal guardian must personally undertake to support the care and education of the minor or ward.

The Youth Welfare Office (Jugendamt) immediately arranges a legal guardian for a minor and unaccompanied refugee when they are placed in care. The family court puts this in place. Generally, the family court appoints the Youth Welfare Office (Jugendamt) as the legal guardian, however, individuals or an association for legal guardians can be appointed.

More information is available at the Stadt Göttingen’s Youth Department (Fachbereich Jugend), Special Service for Legal Guardians/Fostering (Fachdienst Vormundschaften/Pflegschaften).

Services in Göttingen: Special project “Get Here & Get Started!” (“Ankommen & loslegen!”) – Becoming qualified and orientation for minors and refugees

In April 2014, Future Workshop (Zukunfts-Werkstatt e.V.) launched the special project “Get Here & Get Started!” (“Ankommen & loslegen!”) – Becoming qualified and orientation for minors and refugees – at the House of Cultures (Haus der Kulturen). This project serves unaccompanied minors and refugees aged 16 to 18 who are wards of the Youth Welfare Office (Jugendamt) and whose age has been officially verified. The registered charity Youth Support Southern Lower Saxony (Jugendhilfe Süd-Niedersachsen e.V., JSN) refers young adults to the project.

The aim of the project is to make it easier for young refugees to learn German and to help prepare them to attend a further education institution. Soon after their arrival, participants attend classes four days a week in German, mathematics, computing and social skills, as well as receiving practical learning assistance. Community activities are also planned.

The project is supported for a three-year period by Action Humans (Aktion Mensch), the Klosterkammer Hanover, the Software AG Foundation and JSN.

1.7 Healthcare counselling and local health authority services

The Local Health Authority (Gesundheitsamt) for Göttingen City and District provides a wide range of healthcare services, including:

- medical expert reports and infection prevention and control
- child and adolescent healthcare
- psychiatric services
- social services

Not all services will be relevant for all immigrants, so a brief selection is introduced below.
Prevention and health promotion measures under the “Expert Report and Infection Prevention and Control Guideline” (“Gutachten und Infektionsschutz”)

The Health Promotion Department (Abteilung Gesundheitsförderung) and AIDS Advice Centre (AIDS-Beratungsstelle) run by Göttingen City and District Local Health Authority (Gesundheitsamt) arranges events and projects focusing on a variety of topics related to infection prevention, chiefly:

- education events about HIV/AIDS and sexually transmitted diseases e.g. in schools or with youth groups
- events focusing on "I’m informed" (“Ich weiß Bescheid”) concerning physical development, sexuality, contraception and puberty for pupils in the 5th to 8th school years
- "Fit from Food" (“Fit durch Ernährung”), “Eating – Course for the Senses” (“Sinnesparcours Essen”) and other projects relating to nutrition (in cooperation with Lower Saxony’s Consumer Advice Centre (Verbraucherzentrale Niedersachsen)

Personal advice sessions about these topics and appointments with other advisors can be arranged by telephone.

The AIDS Advice Centre (AIDS-Beratungsstelle) run by Göttingen’s Local Health Authority (Gesundheitsamt) also offers a free and anonymous HIV test. This can be arranged every Tuesday from 10.30–12.00 and on Thursdays from 08.00–10.00.

The AIDS Advice Centre (AIDS-Beratungsstelle) also provides:

- personal and telephone counselling about HIV/AIDS, sexually transmitted diseases and sexual identity (anonymous and free of charge)
- support and advice for those diagnosed as HIV-positive and patients with AIDS
- counselling for relatives and friends
- information and advice for trainers and health workers
- free brochures (some available in multilingual format)

The Health Promotion Department (Abteilung Gesundheitsförderung) and the AIDS Advice Centre (AIDS-Beratungsstelle) also participate in events about health promotion topics e.g. at exhibitions. The Local Health Authority (Gesundheitsamt) also participates in the annual Göttingen health expo that is organized by the local health centre.
Children’s and Youth Health Service (Jugendgesundheitsdienst) services

The Children’s and Youth Health Service (Kinder- und Jugendgesundheitsdienst) run by the Local Health Authority (Gesundheitsamt) offers advice to parents and their children as well as daycare centres and schools about the following subjects:

- preventive immunization
- the Infectious Diseases Protection Act (Infektionsschutzgesetz)
- pre-school and school age development problems in children with potential medical causes
- language development problems
- physical, intellectual and emotional disabilities and options for assistance

The Children’s and Youth Health Service (Kinder- und Jugendgesundheitsdienst) ensures that children are examined by the school doctor before starting school – the school entry health examination (Schuleingangsuntersuchung, SEU) – and carries out health check-ups before the start of every school year as well as providing advice for parents, children and teachers about basic health requirements. Every year in Göttingen City and District, a team of school doctors from the Local Health Authority (Gesundheitsamt) examines between four and five thousand children.

Once a month, every Thursday from 14.00 to 16.00, a public consultation is held for parents and their children, including a free service for all essential vaccinations.

Dental service

The Dental Service (zahnärztlicher Dienst) run by the Local Health Authority (Gesundheitsamt) offers regular dental preventive check-ups in crèches, daycare centres, schools and organizations in Göttingen City and District for those with disabilities.

Parents can obtain more information about their child’s oral health and about potential tooth or jaw misalignment and resulting speech problems.

Trained disease prevention specialists in the department regularly educate children about age-appropriate dental health, a good diet for healthy teeth and damaging sweets and drinking habits.

These services are available free of charge.

The service offered by disease prevention specialists also includes:

- prevention in crèches, daycare centres, schools and organizations
- information for parents, e.g. at parent cafés or parents’ evenings
- advice for teachers

3 It is compulsory for all children to undergo the school entry health examination (Schuleingangsuntersuchung) according to Lower Saxony’s School Act (Niedersächsisches Schulgesetz, NSchG). The local primary school is responsible in each case for confirming appointments.
Staff are available at the dental service to assist with all queries concerning preventive dental care. On request, information meetings can be offered for young adults, parent and child groups or mothers’ coffee mornings.

Social Services (Sozialdienst)

The Social Services (Sozialdienst) run by the Local Health Authority (Gesundheitsamt) offer advice and support for older people and those with a physical and/or mental disability as well as individuals with chronic illnesses. Assistance is given with personal, financial and social legislation matters, e.g.:

- coping with illness
- nursing care provision and nursing care insurance
- applying for a disability permit
- assisted living and/or residential homes for those with disabilities

Social Services (Sozialdienst) also assist elderly people who are affected with mental illness such as dementia or depression and their relatives.

Pregnant women living with domestic violence can also turn to the Local Health Authority’s (Gesundheitsamt) Social Services department (Sozialdienst) which is a recognized consultancy centre under Article 218 of the German Criminal Code (Strafgesetzbuch, StGB).

1.8 Asklepios Clinic Göttingen (Asklepios Fachklinikum Göttingen) – Specialists in cultural consultancy, migration and psychiatric illness

The Psychiatric Institute and Clinic (Psychiatrische Institutsambulanz, PIA) at the Asklepios Clinic Göttingen (Asklepios Fachklinikum Göttingen) provides care for outpatients and psychiatric and psychotherapy services.

With its emphasis on cultural consultancy, migration and psychiatric illness, the clinic also specializes in treating patients with refugee or migrant backgrounds. Individual therapy sessions are offered (if applicable, in the patient’s native language) and with qualified interpreters in the relevant field, if available. Services are also tailored for groups.

Therapy sessions are tailored to suit each patient, taking into account not only biological, psychological and social needs but also cultural factors. The aim is to restore patients' quality of life and resilience and to equip them to deal better with illness and its effects.

The specialist team from the cultural consultancy, migration and psychiatric illness department can also provide advanced and further training courses.

1.9 MiMi – the intercultural healthcare project

Since 2010, the Stadt Göttingen’s Office for Integration (Büro für Integration) has implemented the intercultural healthcare project ‘With Migrants for Migrants’ (“Mit Migranten für Migranten”, MiMi) with the aim of boosting migrants’ knowledge of Germany’s complex healthcare system. Wanting to raise awareness for current healthcare promotion and prevention topics, the Stadt Göttingen trained 14 special healthcare ‘mediators’ with in-depth knowledge of the different cultural backgrounds and skills to convey information in 12 different languages: (Arabic, Russian, Turkish, English, Polish, Chinese, Japanese, Hindi, Dari, Persian, Romany and German).

Göttingen’s healthcare mediators have passed training courses on a variety of subjects and attend new training courses every year. They pass on what they have learned at multilingual information events for institutions and anyone interested about the following specialist areas:

- the German healthcare system
- child health and accident prevention
- immunization
- healthy eating and exercise
- pregnancy and family planning
- early diagnosis and treatment of breast cancer
- emotional health, including among children and young adults
- nursing and healthcare in old age
- diabetes
- dementia
- post-traumatic stress among migrants and refugees
- smoking as a health risk
- risks of alcoholism
- gambling addiction
- media addiction

The events are free of charge.
The Stadt Göttingen’s Office for Integration (Büro für Integration) organizes the intercultural healthcare project in conjunction with the Ethno-Medical Centre registered charity (Ethno-Medizinisches Zentrum e.V.) in Hanover. Funding was received, among others, from Lower Saxony’s Ministry of Social Affairs, Health, Family and Equality (Niedersächsisches Ministerium für Soziales, Gesundheit und Gleichstellung).

2. Interpreter services

Immigrants who have just arrived in Göttingen generally have no or only a minimal working knowledge of German. An interpreter is required to assist with many of the first steps towards orientation.

The Stadt Göttingen’s specialist departments maintain contacts with interpreters who can provide language services, if required, with the initial appointment at the relevant department.

Interpreters should be contacted independently to arrange for them to attend appointments outside the city’s administrative offices, or to interpret and explain written documents. The Centre for Migrants in Göttingen City and District (Migrationszentrum für die Stadt und den Landkreis Göttingen) can arrange assistance in such cases.

Staff at the Centre for Migrants (Migrationszentrum) are proficient in many languages (including Amharic, Arabic, English, French, Italian, Kurdish, Persian, Portuguese, Romanian, Russian, Tigringna and Turkish) which they use during meetings. The centre also has numerous contacts and can arrange for support from other agencies.

3. Stadt Göttingen’s Services for Migrants

There are different centres in Göttingen to support immigrants with their initial orientation in the city. These centres clarify any issues and difficulties arising in the new circumstances.

The advisory services are designed for particular groups of individuals and assistance can be arranged in other languages.

Appointments are confidential and free of charge.

The following agencies are on hand to offer their services:

3.1 Service for Young Migrants run by the International Federation (Jugendmigrationsdienst des Internationalen Bundes, IB)

The Service for Young Migrants run by the International Federation (Jugendmigrationsdienst des Internationalen Bundes, IB) supports migrant teenagers and young adults in the 12 to 27 age group and their parents. The service offers personal guidance with linguistic, school and vocational integration into German society.

The IB’s Service for Young Migrants provides:

- individual support, with a personal integration plan and case management
- advice and supervision during integration courses
- assistance with personal problems and crises, and with questions relating to school, training and jobs
- assistance with the transition from school to work
- services especially for groups
- integration projects for personal coaching and enhancing skills for immigrants

3.4 Centre for Migrants in Göttingen City and District (Migrationszentrum für Stadt und Landkreis Göttingen)

The Centre for Migrants (Migrationszentrum) is an advice, education and meeting centre supported by Göttingen’s Diocesan Association (Diakonieverband) that currently provides mentoring for refugees or asylum seekers. Migrants can request advice in more than ten languages about social and legal matters and support with steps towards integration.

The Centre for Migrants (Migrationszentrum) offers:

Advice about:
- social affairs
- integration
- social work with refugees
- legal advice (incl. residence and asylum law, social welfare legislation)
- cooperation with the registered charity Medical Support for Asylum Seekers (Medizinische Flüchtlingshilfe e.V.) (see Part I, Chap. 1.8)

Education: (in cooperation with the registered charity Evangelical Adult Education (Evangelische Erwachsenenbildung e.V.)
- Integration courses (with supervision for children aged 6 months to 3 years)
- German courses (A1, A2, B1) (see Part II, Chap. 1.2)
- Literacy courses (see Part II, Chap. 1.2)

Project work:
- MyFuture – support for families with educational appointments (see Part II, Chap. 2.1)
- Assistance for school pupils

Centre for Migrants (Migrationszentrum) for Göttingen City and District

Weender Strasse 42
37073 Göttingen
In 2012, the Stadt Göttingen’s Office for Integration (Büro für Integration) initiated a nationwide project for best practice with three of the following centres – the Advisory Service for Adult Immigrants (Migrationsberatung für Erwachsene, MBE), Workers’ Welfare (Arbeiterwohlfahrt, AWO), the Service for Young Migrants run by the International Federation (Jugendmigrationsdienst des Internationalen Bundes, IB) and the Educational Consultancy University Guarantee Fund – Inner Mission and Evangelical Relief Organization (Bildungsberatung Garantiefonds-Hochschule – Innere Mission und Evangelisches Hilfswerk). Then and now, the aim has been to offer immigrants assistance that is appropriate for their needs.

As a result, the contact and cooperation with advisory services provided by various city administration agencies, particularly the Alien Office (Ausländerbehörde) and Job Centre, have been further improved. Support for people with migrant backgrounds in Göttingen has now been organized even more efficiently.

The following mini-booklet was prepared as part of this best practice initiative.

Services for Migrants in Göttingen – Mini-booklet

The mini-booklet “Services for Migrants in Göttingen” (“Migrationsdienste in Göttingen”) highlights the wide range of services offered by the institution that welcomes immigrants in each case.

Details are also provided of additional advisory services and networks that guarantee ongoing and expert support in Göttingen.

The mini-booklet is available to download from the website of the Office for Integration (Büro für Integration) at www.goettingen.de/integration.

Print versions of the booklet are also available at the town hall (Neues Rathaus) and in advice centres.
4. Organizations and networks specializing in integration

In addition to the advice centres for immigrants listed above, other institutions and networks in Göttingen also specialize in integration. These organizations, which are in constant contact with each other, include:

4.1 Stadt Göttingen’s Office for Integration (Büro für Integration)

In 2008, the Office for Integration (Büro für Integration) prepared a city integration plan as part of a wider public consultation process. The plan was unanimously adopted by the city council in 2009 and states that people living in Göttingen and from different cultural backgrounds should have equal rights. Migrants should receive assistance settling into the city and they should have equal opportunities for participation at work and in social, cultural and political activities.

The Stadt Göttingen’s Office for Integration (Büro für Integration) is responsible for implementing this and other objectives, including:

- devising action strategies for further development of the city’s integration work
- coordinating projects and special measures
- consultancy for support organizations and institutions
- cooperating with organizations run by migrants for migrants
- publishing information leaflets
- providing incentives for intercultural openness

The Coordination Centre for Migration and Participation (Koordinierungsstelle Migration und Teilhabe) has been based at the Office for Integration (Büro für Integration) since 2014 and participates in these activities.

4.2 Göttingen Integration Council (Integrationsrat)

The Integration Council (Integrationsrat) is the directly elected municipal body in local politics representing the interests of migrants in Göttingen. The Integration Council (Integrationsrat) works on behalf of Göttingen’s immigrant population, putting forward their interests to the city’s local council and administration and campaigning for equal rights for migrants.

Members of the Integration Council (Integrationsrat) also have an advisory role with special committees that report to the city’s local council.

Services offered by the Integration Council (Integrationsrat) include:

- information and advice on municipal integration policy and services
- anti-discrimination advisory service
- assistance and support for migrant self-help organizations
- assistance with cultural participation through networking and cooperation with cultural institutes (e.g. cultural centres) and migrant self-help organizations
- political and cultural events for various current topics in integration policy, policy on asylum seekers and foreigners, anti-racism

4.5 Institute of Applied Cultural Research
(Institut für angewandte Kulturforschung e.V.)

The Institute of Applied Cultural Research (Institut für angewandte Kulturforschung e.V., ifak) is an independent organization dealing with subjects related to migration and education policy as well as raising awareness for development policy. The Institute specializes in conveying intercultural skills, global learning and education measures for sustainable development.

ifak’s activities include:

- advice for small organizations and all those interested in project planning and implementation
- coordinating, planning and implementing events with partner organizations
- representing migration and development policy content to other networks
- compiling publicity material and conveying content about migration, education and development policy

ifak is also a member of various networks and associations (e.g. the Migration Network (Netzwerk Migration), Southern Lower Saxony Educational Cooperative (Bildungsgenossenschaft Südniedersachsen eG), and partners with various adult education institutions in the “Fair Stay Southern Lower Saxony” project ("FairBleib Südniedersachsen") (see Part III, Chap. 8.).

5. Neighbourhood organizations (Stadtteileinrichtungen)

Successful integration is coordinated in the suburbs where immigrants and Germans live. Being local makes it easier to reach out to people and to create a sense of community. Joint activities can be supported and there is greater awareness of local events. City districts therefore play an important role in the local integration process.

Neighbourhood organizations (Stadtteileinrichtungen) are social hubs where facilities are available for people to meet, interact and participate in shared activities and a variety of services relating to education, advisory services and leisure activities. The services provide opportunities for individual support and help people to become independent. They make an important contribution to integration in the local community.

Especially in those areas of the city with a high proportion of residents from different cultural backgrounds, the established neighbourhood organizations now enjoy an excellent reputation.
5.1 Neighbourhood Centre and Intergenerational House
(Nachbarschaftszentrum Mehrgenerationenhaus Grone e.V.)

The Neighbourhood Centre and Intergenerational House (Nachbarschaftszentrum Mehrgenerationenhaus Grone e.V.) in Grone, a suburb of Göttingen, is a pioneering scheme that was developed and implemented as part of Göttingen’s “Social Welfare City” (“Soziale Stadt”) programme.

The Neighbourhood Centre is a popular contact and meeting point for people of all ages and all cultural backgrounds. It specializes in community work, assisting citizens’ initiatives, support for mutual tolerance, responsibility for other residents and the suburban environment, networking and organizing and implementing educational, advisory, cultural and leisure events.

The wide range of services offered at the Neighbourhood Centre includes:

- language and computer courses
- legal and pensions advice
- welcome breakfasts (men and women)
- a sewing and cookery group

All those who are interested are encouraged to participate. Childcare is available. Individual ideas can also be developed and implemented.

5.2 West City Centre (Weststadtzentrum)

West City Centre (Weststadtzentrum) is a central meeting point for residents in Göttingen's Weststadt that was established to deliver various projects. In addition to employment projects, it also hosts various initiatives for migrants with the aim of helping them participate more in society and become more accepted. A sewing course for mothers “Mum sews German” (“Mama näht deutsch”), international cookery, breakfasts for women and a weekly children’s crafts day are examples of the courses on offer.

With the support of the St. Godehard Parish, an information day for new immigrants is held every month at the West City Centre (Weststadtzentrum). Early orientation and information courses are also provided.

From 2015, cycling courses will be available to improve mobility. The centre runs events such as breakfasts for the elderly, and for men, a second-hand clothing stall (“bunte Ecke”) and a bicycle repair shop to help people learn basic cycle repair skills.

An information point is open daily to assist those seeking advice. Various cultural exhibitions and special events complete the services on offer.

5.3 Leineberg-City District Centre (Stadtteilbüro Leineberg)

The Leineberg Neighbourhood Association (Nachbarschaftsverein Leineberg e.V.) works to improve things for everyone living in Leineberg. At Leineberg-City District Centre (Stadtteilbüro Leineberg) local residents enjoy a wide range of opportunities to meet and get to know each other. For example, a community lunch is held three times a week. A team of local volunteers also lends a hand (e.g. with shopping, accompanying people on walks, etc.).

The services are available for everyone, and residents from different parts of the city are also welcome. The updated events calendar is published on the website of the Leineberg-City District Centre (Stadtteilbüro Leineberg).

5.4 Family Meeting Point at the Iduna Centre (Familientreff Iduna-Zentrum)

Youth Support Göttingen (Jugendhilfe Göttingen e.V.) also has access to facilities on the ground floor of the Iduna Centre (Iduna-Zentrum) and the Family Meeting Point there, (Familientreff Iduna-Zentrum, FIZ), which offers a variety of services to families, including Romanies, who live in the area.

During the afternoons children and teenagers can join in various play, learning and sports activities – these are adapted to meet the needs of individual groups. Other services are available for mothers and their children. Men benefit from social support and advice offered by male staff at the centre.

The project at the Iduna Centre (Iduna-Zentrum) mainly focuses on personal counselling, services and low-threshold support for families within close proximity to residential homes.

5.5 Petri House (Petri Haus) Göttingen

Petri House (Petri Haus) in Grone is another institution set up to provide a wide range of services in a local city district. The Petri House (Petri Haus) is a children’s daycare centre that focuses on integration and a Parent and Child Centre (Eltern-Kind-Zentrum) (see also Part II, Chap. 2.3).

Similar to the neighbourhood institutions listed above, Petri House’s Parent and Child Centre (Eltern-Kind-Zentrum) offers services in the areas of local meeting facilities, educational and advisory services open to all families living in Grone and anyone else interested in finding out more information.

The advisory services available at Petri House (Petri Haus) include:

- advice about integration (e.g. language learning, residence rights, family reunification and naturalization), with additional services accompanying and interpreting at local offices, lawyers offices, schools and childcare centres
- general advice on social welfare
- arranging appointments with special services and family support institutions
- support and counselling on matters related to education and day-to-day living

5.6 Evangelical-Lutheran Bethlehem Parish Göttingen (Ev.-luth. Bethlehemgemeinde Göttingen)

As a Church community based in and working for the city district, the Evangelical-Lutheran Bethlehem Parish Göttingen (Ev.-luth. Bethlehemgemeinde Göttingen) provides local residents in Holtenser Berg with a variety of advice, meeting and educational services. These include a counselling service and local shop for second-hand clothing and toys.

When the East-West Club (Ost-West-Club) was set up in Bethlehem Parish in 2005, most of its members came from the former CIS states (former Soviet Republics). The East-West Club (Ost-West-Club) was set up to improve links between local residents and migrants, and to cultivate members’ own traditions and culture. In addition to talks on various topics and excursions near Göttingen, language courses and a computer course are also provided here.

Information:

Community activities are held at all the above institutions (e.g. meetings and events with a broad range of topics). This also includes a large number of advisory services and amenities for citizens’ initiatives.

The neighbourhood organizations (Stadtteileinrichtungen) therefore offer an extensive programme of daily and weekly events to meet the needs of different groups and services in the city district.

Please refer to the website of the relevant organization for more information about current services.
6. Introduction to leisure, sports and culture

Complementing the work of various local organizations serving different city districts, a variety of sports clubs, cultural event organizers and leisure facilities help immigrants to integrate in Göttingen. These provide a wide range of services and numerous opportunities for people to get involved in social events.

6.1 Göttinger Sport und Freizeit GmbH & Co. KG

Göttinger Sport und Freizeit GmbH & Co. KG (GoeSF) provides comprehensive information about sports and wellness, numerous sports centres, public swimming baths and more than 100 sports clubs in Göttingen.

The sports database at www.goesf.de > “Sports centres” > “Sports database” (> Sportstätten > Sportdatenbank) gives search options to list sports centres, clubs, training times, potential sports and their categories.

6.2 City Sports Alliance Göttingen (Stadtsportbund Göttingen e.V.)

City Sports Alliance Göttingen (Stadtsportbund Göttingen e.V.) is ‘the place to go’ for Göttingen’s residents who are keen on sport. It provides information about family sports, fitness and exercise, sports for young people and the elderly, sports for women and girls as well as for people who are new to Germany.

It also offers leisure activities for young people, families and the elderly, sports consultancy, basic and advanced training courses and advice for clubs, and hosts major sporting events.

City Sports Alliance Göttingen (Stadtsportbund Göttingen e.V.) provides a versatile range of services for its members.

More information about these services is available on the website www.ssb-goettingen.de.
6.3 Stadt Göttingen’s Culture Department (Fachbereich Kultur)

Göttingen presents a wide range of cultural activities in theatre, literature, music and the fine arts.

The city hosts a large number of unique and annual cultural events, like the “Cultural Summer” Programme (Göttinger Kultursommerprogramm), art exhibitions and theatre events. The Stadt Göttingen’s Culture Department (Fachbereich Kultur) plans, hosts and organizes these events.

An overview of all providers of cultural events (Kulturveranstaltungen) in Göttingen (e.g. theatre, museums or socio-cultural institutions) is available on the city’s website at www.goettingen.de > “Culture, Leisure and Sports” > “Culture in Göttingen” > “Cultural addresses” (> Kultur, Freizeit und Sport > Kultur in Göttingen > Kulturadressen).

6.4 Cultural Gateway Göttingen (Kulturpforte Göttingen e.V.)

Cultural Gateway Göttingen (Kulturpforte Göttingen e.V.) aims to help residents with low incomes to participate in culture and art. This is possible through the release of unsold tickets from a variety of cultural partners who telephone those interested in attending (e.g. recipients of basic welfare benefits), who can then participate in cultural events free of charge.

Cultural Gateway (Kulturpforte) works with different cultural organizations based in Göttingen and the surrounding area. The project is supported by Workers’ Welfare (Arbeiterwohlfahrt, AWO) Göttingen.

Further information is available on the website at www.kulturpforte-goettingen.jimdo.de.
6.5 Stadt Göttingen’s Interreligious Annual Calendar (Interreligiöser Jahreskalender)

Since 2010, the Stadt Göttingen’s Office for Integration (Büro für Integration) has published the Interreligious Annual Calendar (interreligiöser Jahreskalender), which highlights the year’s most important festivals and public holidays as well as events in Göttingen held by mainstream religions.

The calendar embraces the aim identified in the city’s integration plan to “respect religious festivals”. It is intended to raise awareness of the different cultures and religions and to promote shared interreligious experience. Various institutions assist with the programme of events e.g. with plans for the most important dates or (schools’) popular festival and holiday celebrations.

Print versions of the calendar are available free of charge from the Office for Integration (Büro für Integration). It is also available as a free PDF download from the website at www.goettingen.de/integration > “Leisure, Culture and Religion” > “Interreligious Annual Calendar” (> Freizeit, Kultur und Religion > Interreligiöser Jahreskalender).

Notes
7. Clubs and organizations run by and for migrants (Migrantenselbstorganisationen)

There are a large number of organizations run by and for migrants in Göttingen (Migrantenselbstorganisationen), ranging from organizations that work in areas such as language courses, preserving and teaching traditions and culture, and day-to-day assistance to specialist clubs and organizations for specific fields or with the aim of supporting certain groups, such as religious and student associations or sports clubs.

Other organizations support development work in the different countries of origin or other parts of the world.

It is clear that there is no single definition of “an organization run by and for migrants” (Migrantenselbstorganisation).

Many of these organizations provide versatile services and some are also available to support immigrants who have just arrived.

Further information is available from the relevant organization.

FIRST STEPS TOWARDS ORIENTATION
The word „WILLKOMMEN“ („welcome“) written in different languages symbolizes the wish of the Stadt Göttingen to give all people from any cultural background equal rights and chances for social, professional, cultural and political participation. The collage made by Adrian Schucht shows the geographic shape of Göttingen and its districts.
